Address a specific challenge, decision, or circumstance that is creating frustration, uncertainty, or an outcome you want to change. Over three months, we work through the problem, identify solutions, and move toward the outcome you want to achieve.	The challenge in front of you may be a symptom of something bigger. Over six months, we move beyond the immediate circumstance to get to the root of what is influencing the outcomes you are experiencing. We address what we find, develop solutions, and create different outcomes moving forward.	Immerse yourself in a 12-month experience dedicated to the recreation of self. Together, we reveal what you have not been able to see within yourself and challenge the identity you have been living from. Break the habit of who you have been. Become free to consciously create who you choose to be and the life you choose to experience.	A fully customized experience in personal evolution, emotional intelligence, and influential leadership. We bring your blind spots into the conversation. Challenge what has gone unquestioned. Provoke and stretch you beyond the parameters of what has become comfortable. Deepen your awareness of self. Expand your emotional intelligence. Become more conscious of your effect on others and intentional about the choices you make.
